A TRIUMPH IN CIVIL ENGINEERING .-Owing to the immense weight, the iron shoes in which rest two of the spans of the long Lebigh-Valley railroad bridge at Easton, Pa., lately sank about an inch, throwing the bridge out of grade. As it was certain that the depression would continue, owing to the fact that the inside masonry of the pier is less solid than the outside, an iron casting twelve feet long, three feet three inches wide, and three inches thick, weighing 7,000 pounds, was on Thursday successfully placed under the spans in order to elevate them. The spans weigh 180 tons each. Hydraulic jacks were used. The spans were raised, the masonry redressed, the castings placed in position, and the spans lowered, with the stoppage of a single train. This is the greatest engineering feat that has been attempted and success fully carried through in this region .- Philadelphia North American.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad is being rapidly pushed westward. It has already penetrated into the Grand Canon of the Arkansas, in Colorado, and the track is now being laid in that tremendous cleft in the mountain known as the Royal Gorge. Where but lately the most adventurous tourist's foot had never dared to tread the locomotive will soon hurry along hosts of travellers on business and pleasure. Deadville will bave a railroad connection with the outside world by this route at an early date.

It is announced by the New York Catholic Mirror that Dean Stanley, who recently visited this country, is about to join the Catho he Church. His sister, who was converted many years ago, has since the death of his wife assumed great sway over his mind, and has turned it toward the study of Catholicism, especially as enunciated in the works of Fenelon.

It is stated that President Huntington, of the Southern Pacific railroad, has signed a contract to connect with the Atlantic and Pacific road at San Antonio or El Paso, and with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe to St. Louis.
